Action of the Alabama Convention on the Subject of Intermarriage between Whites and Blacks.

Some weeks ago in the Alabama Constitutional Convention, Mr Semple, from the Judiciary Committee, reported an ordinance to be referred to the Committee on Constitution, declaring null and void ab initio, all marriages between whites and blacks.

Mr. Griffin moved to lay the ordinance on the table, and have it printed.

Mr Semple said that the motion of Griffin and others was intended only to evade the subject—that they wanted the subject hidden out, that Griffin and his crowd only wished to keep this subject smothered, but there were men in this Convention who were determined to have this question settled, and cause men to show their hands. For his part, whilst he was truly loyal, he was proud of the fact that he was a white man, and he intended forever to hold up the superiority of the white race.

Mr Griffin replied in his usual vein, about social equality, and the necessity of having the ordinance printed for further discussion.

Carraway (colored) followed Griffin and moved to amend by adding the following:

"That any white man found cohabiting with a colored woman be imprisoned in the Penitentiary for life."

[This amendment was considered funny by some of the members, as there was considerable laughing and knocking of feet.]

Mr Semple stated that he would call for the yeas and nays on the question of laying his ordinance on the table, and would consider the result a test vote as to whether the Convention individually favored white and negro intermarriage.

The yeas and nays were called, and resulted yeas 56, nays 31. The ordinance was therefore laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

Carraway's amendment was disposed of in the same way.

MARRIAGE BETWEEN FREEDMEN AND FREEDWOMEN.

On the next day the ordinance relating to marriage between freedmen and freedwomen was taken up and adopted as follows

WHEREAS, During the existence of slavery the usages of the country permitted many thousands of its people to live together without the binding obligations of lawful marriage, and in many instances the connection was forced to suit the wishes and interest of the slaveholders, therefore,

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Alabama in Convention assembled,

That all such freedmen and women who shall now be living together as man and wife shall be regarded by law as man and wife, and that the children of such connections, whether they be of black or mixed blood, shall be and are hereby declared to be entitled to all the rights, benefits and immunities of children of any other class under the laws of Alabama.

And, be it ordained, That all prosecutions for bigamy, or fornication instituted against any person or persons who have, by mutual consent, dissolved such connection and afterward married another person shall be null and void.

Goldwin Smith on the Irish Question.

The London Daily News contains a long letter from Mr. Goldwin Smith on the "Irish question." Repeating an expression he heard in Ireland, the ex Professor says that Irish disaffection has come fairly into line with the other discontented nationalities of Europe. Active Fenianism pervades probably only the lowest class, passive sympathy convertible by success into active support of the movement, extends a good deal higher. England has before her, unless she can overcome class interests and national pride, the part of Russia in Poland, or Austria in Italy. Our position will be worse than that of Russia, because the Irish are more diffused in our own cities than in America. The truth which we need to lay to heart is that the movement is essentially national, not religious or economical. Irish farmers are comparatively prosperous, and wages are considerably better than they were formerly. The Orangemen ascribe the sedition to Roman Catholicism, but they were undeceived when they saw a priest run away from the Fenians for his life. The land question had more to do with Fenianism than religion. Mr. Goldwin Smith does not believe that even this is fundamental, and he is sure that to allay Irish disaffection by a measure of tenant right is an undertaking before which ordinary economy and statesmanship would stand aghast. The real root of the evil is, he thinks, the want in Ireland of national institutions. The institutions and greatness of England are nothing to the Irish, and her history nothing. The people feel like aliens even in their own country. Mr. Goldwin Smith concludes from these data that one of the first requisite is a decided measure of decentralization such as would make Dublin the real capital of Ireland, and render it possible for an Irishman to be a patriot without being a rebel. The difficulty is to do this without dissolving the Union, and without shutting out the hope of ultimate incorporation. Mr. Smith wishes it were not too much to hope that a short Parliament might be held in Ireland to study these questions.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The Washington correspondent of the Herald says:

Mr. C. C. Washburne, of Wisconsin, has now in course of preparation a bill of a most important character, looking to an amendment of the charter of the Pacific Railroad. Mr. Washburne says, as the case now stands, it is well understood that the government will furnish most, if not all, of the money that will go into the road. He expresses surprise that no restriction has been placed upon the company in regard to their rates for the transportation of passengers and freight. As the road when finished is likely to be the only continuous line to the Pacific for some years, the company will consequently have a monopoly of business, and, according to their present privileges, will have an undisputed control over the fixing of their rates, which, it is feared, will be unreasonably exorbitant. To meet this evil Mr. Washburne proposes in his bill to suggest an amendment to the charter of the road by establishing a commission, to be composed of the Secretaries of War and the Interior and Attorney General, whose duty it shall be to fix annually a tariff for passengers and freight. To force this measure upon the company Mr Washburne intends to add a clause suspending any further issue of bonds to the company until they shall have consented to incorporate the provisions of his bill into their charter. Great complaints are already made on account of the charges on the road. The average rate on that portion completed is now about ten cents per mile per passenger between Omaha and Cheyenne, which would make the fare about $200 to the Pacific. To nip in the bud this outcropping of what may be expected in the way of monopoly in the future, Mr Washburne will press his bill vigorously, in hopes of obtaining immediate action.

BEECHER ON THE ROUND TABLE GRIDIRON.— * * * We are glad that Mr. Beecher is to resume his old place and write for the Ledger regular or occasional articles on any of ten thousand topics that are interesting." If we might be allowed a suggestion, it would be to make them as occasional as possible—the more occasional the better. And perhaps any of twenty thousand topics that are uninteresting would furnish an agreeable variety and make Beecher feel still more at home. But however this may be, one thing we are sure of, that the Reverend Apostle of Plymouth Church has found his true sphere. His very imperfections—the best of us are not faultless—will here assist him: the informality of syntax which the Church Union considers his greatest virtue, which is his best distinction from the accomplished villains who respect the laws of grammar but not the laws of God, will help to adapt him to his new position. And when he shall have a little habituated himself to the spicy narrative which the Ledger loves, when he shall have dabbled a little in gore and curriculum when bellud and murderr shall glide easily from his lurid pen—Sweeney Todd, the Ruffian Barber, or Lafitte, the Pirate of the Gulf, we might recommend [illegible] useful models [illegible] to which he need not aspire. Sylvanus Cobb Jr., and Mrs Southworth may tremble for their laurels, when Mr Beecher's prentice hand shall have learned their cunning. But at present autobiography seems rather in demand than romance. And if there is one thing that Mr Beecher [illegible] better than another it is autobiography. The thrilling recital of "How He Earned His First Ten Dollars," is earnest of the treat in store for us, and not even, we venture to say, Mr Greeley's Recollections of a Boozy—we beg pardon, a Busy Life—will surpass in interest Mr Beecher's edifying reminiscences.—Round Table.

The Spirit of a Jail

STRANGE MIDNIGHT SOUNDS AND APPARITIONS—STARTLING VISITATIONS TO THE INMATES OF THE JAIL.—PRISONERS NIGHTLY THROWN INTO PAROXYSMS OF TERROR.

[From the Chicago Tribune Dec 19th.]

One night about six weeks ago Deputy Sheriff Edward Langley was sitting at his watch in the office at the county jail. The prisoners had all been locked up in their cells long before, and most of them were fast asleep. The gas in the different wards was dim and indistinct. It was past 11 o'clock. The jail was hushed in stillness save from one or two of the cells the noise of conversation was heard from those of the prisoners who had not yet gone to rest. The silence was oppressive, and rendered more so by the dull heavy ticking of the clock which hung over the office desk. Now and then a rat, startled, scampered hastily across the floor. Suddenly there arose a sound, of all sounds the most unearthly and awful, that swept through the prison from one end to the other. Langley started and listened. All was still again. He listened long, but heard nothing. But he had not been mistaken—the sound had been too fearfully distinct for that. So he arose and went through the several wards to ask whence the sound had proceeded. There was nothing, absolutely nothing. The gas still burned low and steadily. There was the sound of water dripping in the bath room, and of rats running helter skelter over the floor. That was all. The prisoners who were still up had ceased talking. They must be listening too. Langley inquired from them, and learned that they had heard the same strange noise. They were even more startled than he, and uneasiness was visible on the face of more than one. It was found that the sound had aroused the prisoners who had fallen asleep, nearly every one of whom was now awake and listening. Not a few of them were evidently frightened. Every one was listening with a painful, anxious interest. The same sound repeated itself soon after, and even more unearthly and distinctly. Anon it died away in a long, prolonged wailing that seemed pitiful to hear. So it continued until after midnight, repeating itself at irregular intervals.

Langley kept what he had heard to himself, for he was fearful that he might be laughed at for his trouble.

Two nights after he heard the noise again. He was sitting with Deputy Sheriff Merrill in the office when both were startled by a repetition of the same moaning, mysterious noise. The ward leading from the office terminates at the door of a vault, which is used as a water closet. The noise seemed to issue from this vault, and appeared to the listeners to proceed from a human being suffering from the direst agony. Langley believed that some one was in the vault, and he unlocked the door. As he did so the sound was heard directly beneath the floor on which he was standing. Both he and Merrill paused, and at that instant he heard in a tone which he says he will never forget, the words "Oh, dear," thrice repeated. Langley applied his ear to the floor, and immediately the sound was heard, louder and more frightful than ever, from the eastern extremity of the jail. Langley and Merrill returned to the office and pondered, but with less and less satisfaction, upon what they had heard. The sound was repeated as before, at regular intervals, during the first half of the night.

About a week after this Deputy Sheriff Tuttle and Simpson were on watch at the jail, when, about 10 o'clock, they both heard a repetition of the mysterious sound. It seemed to issue from the western end of the jail. Tuttle seized a light and traced the sound, as he supposed, to cell No 18. He stationed himself at the door and was quietly listening, believing that one of the inmates had [illegible] the sounds, when, as he stood, he heard the mournful wail directly at his feet, and so near to him that he received a shock which he felt for many days after.

Since then the ghost, or spirit, to which the origin of the sounds heard was ascribed, has been the leading topic of discussion among the prisoners and other inmates of the building. Among the former the superstition is prevalent that the ghost of Fleming, who was hung nearly two years since, with Corbett, for the murder of Maloney, haunts nightly the place where he suffered the penalty of his awful crime. The effect on the various prisoners confined in the jail is very great. Very many of them are remarkably ignorant, and as a consequence are superstitious to the last degree. They all believe in the genuineness of the "ghost," and make no concealment of the uneasiness they feel regarding the mystery. Some of them assert that they have actually seen the spirit. One of them, a colored man named William Jones, says that he awoke one night in his cell and saw the figure of a man hanging with a strap around its neck to the grating which opens into the ventilator from the ceiling. He says that the fright overcame him to such an extent that he fainted. Within the past few weeks the Deputy Sheriffs, who have been on watch, have on several nights been called to cells of prisoners whom they found in paroxysms of fear and horror, asserting that the Presence had appeared to them.

George Hughes and George Phillips, who have occupied cell No. 25 for the last four weeks stated that every night since their confinement, except two, they have heard the noises spoken of, though they have seen nothing. They describe the noises as something awful. They seemed to be the cries of some being in the most dreadful distress. At one time they seemed to be directly opposite their cell, at another a long distance off, rising and falling alternately, awfully distinct at one time, at another barely audible.

Joseph Sheldon, Charles Sellinger, Powell Steinbeck and Henry Schoelle, have been confined in cell No 32 for the last two weeks. Sheldon tells the following, which was attested to by his companions:

A week ago last Monday night, they all lay down to rest in the bunk in the back part of the cell, and soon after they fell asleep. After sleeping, they cannot tell how long, the presence of an indefinable something in the cell caused them all simultaneously to start from their sleep. Each felt a painful sense of oppression that was as mysterious to them as it was horrible. Neither was conscious of anything definite, and yet they were all aware of the proximity of a something which made them tremble with horror, and caused the perspiration to roll off each of them like rain. As they sat up in bed, each too much frightened to utter a word, they felt a cold, rushing wind swept through the cell, chilling each to his very bones. At the same instant the cell door (the inner door, which is enclosed in a heavy outer door of wood) shook and rattled, seemed to swing violently open and then shut again. Then all was still. The four men sat bolt upright, listening for several moments. But they heard no more. They lay down, wondering at the vague cause of their alarm, which they connected with the "ghosts," of which they had heard from their fellow prisoners. Every night since they have heard the peculiar moaning sound which had been noticed by every inmate of the jail.

Richard Rainforth, the life insurance conspirator, who has been confined in the jail for several months for contempt of court, stated that he had almost every night for the past six weeks heard strange noises in the wards outside of his cell. The noise was heard by him between 10 and 2 o'clock at night. They were peculiar noises, a kind of moaning. The sounds were so pitiful and so strange that he did not believe them to be human. At one time he heard the wail close to his cell, at another the sounds seemed to be fully two miles away, now it was loud enough to be heard through the entire prison, and now it fell suddenly in a low moaning, which gradually died away only to be resumed after a short interval.

Last night the writer, in company with several prominent gentlemen of this city, repaired to the jail to await the recurrence of the mysterious sound. After waiting patiently, at 15 minutes to 10 o'clock, the ear heard a sound which seemed to proceed from the western end of the jail. Those who heard it hastened out into the ward, where for two hours they heard the sound repeated now faintly and again distinctly, now close at hand overhead, underneath, seemingly from within the walls on either side, and again from the far off distance. At midnight the sound died away and was heard no more. It was a peculiar kind of moaning, like that described in the statements of the prisoners given above. One thing was certain: the sounds heard were those of no human being. They may be produced by the wind ringing the changes of an Eolian harp in some portions of the building, but they are different, wholly different, from those ever produced by a ventriloquist.

Marvelous Discovery in Montana—A[illegible] Indian Relics.

A most wonderful story reaches us from Montana, indeed, a tale which we should hardly credit, were it not related to us by one whom we consider worthy of our credence. The [illegible] who related the circumstance to us came down by the steamer yesterday, and had himself come [illegible] with Mr Edward Parsons, one of the [illegible] adventurers, who gave him the following [illegible] lars.

In July last a company of five [illegible] was made up in Helena, who having heard of the unexplored country around the Yellowstone, determined to visit that district in search of [illegible]. The country was found to be almost entirely free from Indians, and there was abundance of game until they arrived within two days' journey of Yellowstone Lake, when the [illegible] entirely changed, the country being entirely barren, and [illegible] in every direction with hot springs and [illegible] the [illegible] gases.

Continuing their journey through a [illegible] atmosphere, and encountering [illegible] the rough and irregular ridges of bare rock, [illegible] everywhere distinguished the [illegible] the [illegible] ers on the third day [illegible] to the margin of a lake, from which [illegible] they judged would lead to the Yellowstone [illegible] following the stream for some time they [illegible] a long irregular mound crowned on the summit by an ancient stone, "Carn," similar to [illegible] in some parts of New Mexico, which [illegible] concealed in grass and a growth of low [illegible].

As the work of removing the [illegible] did not appear to be a difficult one, they [illegible] and of medium size, [illegible] "Carn," which was [illegible] after a half a day's labor, and below was found a solid [illegible] which sounded hollow to the tread. [illegible] mined to complete the work, the [illegible], with some labor dug down some twelve [illegible] they came to an immense stone, [illegible] which took the united strength of the party to remove. Beneath there was a long, low [illegible], and when the eyes of the [illegible] accustomed to the darkness, it was seen that an [illegible] catacomb had been unearthed.

Seated in a single row around the [illegible] were the remains of upward of thirty [illegible] from whose forms the flesh had long [illegible] ered away, and whose very [illegible] into dust at the touch of the spectator. On the [illegible] around lay numerous instruments of war or [illegible] some of iron and [illegible] and the [illegible] apartment was covered with a fine and [illegible] palpable dust, which was all that [illegible] furs and robes with which this abode of [illegible] had doubtless at one time been [illegible].

Lying beside the bones [illegible] ments, indicating the rank of the [illegible] them were many of those twisted [illegible] known to antiquarians as [illegible] at one time entwined the [illegible] savage owners. Some of these [illegible] size, weighing one and a half or two [illegible] and many minor ornaments of the [illegible] metal were also [illegible] by the [illegible].

What chiefly attracted attention [illegible] a massive basin or kettle that [illegible] of the apartment, and was [illegible] [illegible] for he [illegible] feet high and two feet and a half in [illegible]. The massive article [illegible] to be pure gold, and was so [illegible] that the party had great difficulty in [illegible] its resting place and bringing it into the air. [illegible] the pure quality of the gold [illegible] the weight of the [illegible] upon it.

After great exertion the [illegible] abled, by means of [illegible] into portable [illegible] turned their steps [illegible] to walk the greater part of the way to [illegible] to the [illegible]. The whole [illegible] of gold was brought to [illegible], and Mr. [illegible] Parsons calculates that his [illegible] of the amounted to about $20,000, the [illegible] $100,000 in value. Mr. [illegible] of Montana, and [illegible] at [illegible] Vale, where he is well known. HON. EDWARD THORNTON, THE [illegible] MINISTER TO THE UNITED STATES.—A [illegible] dispatch informs us of the arrival of this [illegible] in England from Rio Janeiro, and [illegible] is now at rest as to his [illegible] to the post of British Minister at Washington. Mr. [illegible] who is a son of the late Edward [illegible] commenced his official career [illegible] ago as an attaché of the British [illegible]. In 1845 he was appointed paid attaché [illegible] and in 1851 Secretary of [illegible] Republic of Mexico. From April, 1852, till [illegible] 1853, he was Secretary to the late Sir [illegible] Hotham's special mission to the [illegible]. In May, 1854 he received the appointment of Chargé d'Affaires and Consul General to the [illegible] of New Granada, but did not proceed to [illegible], and in September of the same year he was transferred to the Oriental Republic of Uruguay. He filled that post for five years, at the end of which period he was appointed Minister [illegible] to the Argentine Republic. On the [illegible], 1865, he was sent on a special mission to the Emperor of Brazil, and on the 10th of [illegible] following was appointed Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the [illegible] Brazil, from which post he has just been [illegible] to succeed the late Sir Frederick [illegible] of the British Embassy in the United States. It will thus be seen that twenty-two years of Mr. Thornton's official career have [illegible] on this Continent in different diplomatic [illegible]. In February, 1863, he was made a Companion of the Honorable Order of the Bath, the distinction being conferred upon him as a mark of his Sovereign's approval of the ability and [illegible] with which he had discharged the duties of the several offices he had so successfully filled to his country's service. Mr. Thornton [illegible] a Portuguese title of nobility—Count of Cassilhas—which [illegible] be succeeded on the death of his father, whom it was conferred by King John II. of Portugal for three lives, his own being one, and the others to be accomplished in his [illegible] in a direct and legitimate line, but the [illegible] by George IV., permitting Sir Edward to [illegible] the title, forbids him or his heirs [illegible] using it in the British Dominions.

Since last July, [illegible] has [illegible] hearty co-operation between the League and the National Union Con[illegible] and the result has been [illegible] in the [illegible] of the Union party in the South. There are now about twenty-five [illegible] subordinate councils in that section.

It is asserted by the Eastern journals that General Hancock has put himself in active training for the Copperhead nomination for the Presidency.

The National Union Committee say that representatives from all the States will be admitted in the Chicago Convention.

Land-locked and Ice-bound.

If Portland ever expects to be a commercial city she must take steps to become independent of river transportation at such a season as this. For several weeks the city has been cut off from all trade and communication in every direction, except by Ja[illegible]'s express. Now is it not plain to every thinking man that no place can aspire to the dignity of a commercial city, or hope for the wealth and prosperity which commerce commands, when it is liable to be cut off from all its traders and supporters for weeks and months together? As well might we expect the body to survive when all its veins and arteries are frozen and dead, as to expect any place, aspiring to commercial prosperity, to flourish under such conditions. About such a place there would always be a lurking suspicion in the minds of commercial men that there would sometime be a successful rival. The remedy for this state of affairs is plainly—Railroads. These are the great, indispensable and never-failing highways for commerce; their benefits are incalculable, the magic growth of the Western States and cities affording unanswerable proofs of their stupendous agency in building up public prosperity.

In this connection we would remark that an important movement is now being prepared and generally endorsed by the capitalists of the city, which will place the construction of the Oregon Central Railroad beyond a doubt, and give the city an impetus of prosperity far beyond anything which has heretofore been known. From what we have learned of the movement we think it a good one, and hope that citizens will support it. The City Council and the people generally should now take a long step in advance, and push the matter to a successful issue by aiding to secure the construction of this important line at once.

IRON MANUFACTURE.—The iron interest of Missouri is rising into notice and importance. A large number of smelting furnaces are now in blast in the State, and others are being erected. Iron is sold by these furnaces at an average of $48 per ton. The cost of producing iron in the Eastern States is said to average about $50 per ton. The St. Louis papers claim that iron can be manufactured in many localities in Missouri at an average cost per ton of $19 25. Charcoal is used there at present for smelting; but it is claimed that [illegible] coal of proper quality, and in inexhaustible quantities, is accessible, which will produce as good iron as can be made by charcoal. Estimates are made of the cost of getting the coal and iron together, and the result claimed is that iron can be produced for $19 25 per ton, as above at [illegible]. The St. Louis papers [illegible] that Missouri will [illegible] hold the entire control of iron [illegible] on the continent. The cheapest iron now [illegible] in the country is that manufactured at the Brazil works in Indiana. These works get [illegible] of ore from the Iron Mountain of Missouri, and can afford to pay the heavy cost of transporting it to the furnaces, because coal of the [illegible] is at hand for smelting.

THE WEST INDIES.—The contemplated acquisition of [illegible] West India Islands by the United States makes that great and important group just now, if not an object of interest, at least the subject of a good deal of newspaper writing. With the exception of the independent Republics of Hayti and St. Domingo, the possession of these [illegible]—which are divided by geographers into the Greater and Lesser Antilles, and the Bahamas [illegible] is at present divided between England, France, Spain, Holland, Denmark and Sweden. The Dominican Republic comprehends 17,609 [illegible] with a population of 136,500 souls, and the Haytian Republic 10,081 square miles, with a population of 572,000 souls; England [illegible] 15,461 square miles, with a population of 875,[illegible]; Spain, 51,149 square miles, with a population of 1,456,974; France, 1,013 square miles, with a population of 276,453; Holland, 389 [illegible] with a population of 28,497; Denmark, 127 square miles, with a population of 39, [illegible]; and Sweden, 25 square miles, with a population of 2,900 souls. The population of the West Indies is partly European and partly African, and in [illegible] of the islands civilization and Christianity have made considerable progress.

The La Crosse, Wisconsin, Democrat (Brick Pomeroy), of the 2d instant, says: "If to admire [illegible], the most brutal and [illegible] ruffian who ever disgraced the uniform of a soldier of the United States, is to touch [illegible] of the Democracy, then we are content to be [illegible] from political communion with all such Democrats." Evidently, that soldierly [illegible] made lately by "Old Tecumseh," in St. Louis, sticks in the Democratic craw.

B. G. Humphreys, Governor, so-called, of Mississippi, who was an original rebel, and who became a Brigadier General in the Confederate army, has issued a proclamation against an imaginary conspiracy among the blacks of that State, warning them against engaging in any insurrection, and lecturing them about their duties to the Government and laws! There is something sublime in rebel [illegible]. "General" Humphreys quotes law, which, if enforced, would hang him.

Mosley, a renegade abolitionist, recently elected to the Senate of California from Santa Clara county, introduced a bill in 1862 to confiscate the property of [illegible] in that State. In 1865 he was a member of the Union League Committee which drew up a memorial in favor of negro suffrage. He went over to the Democrats because he could not get office from the Republicans, and is now a shining member of what Conserly calls the "regenerated" party.

The endowment fund of Pacific University, at Forest Grove, amounts at present to $41,740 46, all of which is safely and profitably invested. The fund was [illegible] nearly $20,000 by President Marsh on his last trip to the East. It is intended to bring the endowment up to $50,000 within a short time.

It has been stated,—but the report is now denied, that Pirate Semmes would deliver in New Bedford (Mass.) his lecture on the "Cruise of the Alabama" for the benefit of the destitute families of owners of unarmed whaleships which the gallant Admiral's vessel so courageously burned.

Captain Mayne Reid, the English novelist, now in this country, is out in a letter severely rasping England for her duplicity toward the North during the rebellion. He says: "England's professed sympathy for the South was worse than even selfishness; it was the most wanton of wickedness. It boasted for its base an element of generosity, a leaning to the weaker side. All pretense! It motive was neither manhood nor humanity. Had the South been stronger than you it would have taken your side and backed you with Sumters and Alabamas. Its sole purpose was to manipulate you both like a main of cocks, encouraging mere mutual strife till both lay bleeding the dust. Then would both have been at England's feet, and Europe's, to be reconstructed according to the ideas of European despotism. I never saw greater gloom over England, or at all events a more real and universal regret, than on that day we received the news of Lee's surrender, and the termination of your fratricidal strife."

SNOW STORMS.—The greatest snow storm recorded in Russia occurred on the steppes of Kirghees, in Siberia, in 1727, destroying 285,000 horses, 30,400 cattle, 1,000,000 sheep, and 10,000 camels. The greatest recorded in England is that of 1814, in which, for forty-eight hours, the snow fell so furiously that drifts of sixteen, twenty, and even twenty-four feet were recorded in various places. In the South of Scotland, in 1820, there were thirteen drifty days, which killed nine-tenths of all the sheep. On Eskdale Moor, out of 20,000 only 45 were left alive, and the shepherds everywhere built up huge semicircular walls of the dead creatures, to afford shelter to the living till the gale should end. An inch an hour is thought to be the average rate of deposit.

Mr. Bush and the Public Printing.

[Knowing nothing of the facts pertaining to the controversy which has been going on at Salem for a week or two past between S. A. Clarke of the Record and A. Bush, Esq., we have refrained from giving publicity to any of the charges which have been made. We do not desire nor intend to be drawn into this or any other controversy without first knowing the facts in the case. But as the following card from Mr. Bush comes in the form of a statement which does not accuse or inculpate any one else, we have no objection to giving it publicity.—ED. OREGONIAN]:

SALEM, Jan. 21st, 1868.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Under a law of the Territory, the printing of the Legislative Assembly, session of 1854 5, was [illegible] by a disinterested practical printer, the bill made out by him and sworn to. The items were mostly small and the columns consequently long. Secretary Harding added the same, making it $3,856 26, and that amount was paid me. A duplicate of the account was forwarded to the U. S. Treasury Department, as was required of all disbursements, together with a copy of everything printed, and there re-computed. A mistake of the Secretary in adding the column, of $111 48, was discovered and reported to him as error in addition, and the amount of excess was immediately returned to him by me, credited to the United States, and the Department informed of the fact by the Secretary, the Comptroller acknowledging the receipt of such information and crediting the Secretary's account therewith. All this appears by official papers in the Secretary's office here.

It appears that the present Secretary, some years ago, added the column of figures and discovered Mr. Harding's error, making it however but $102 48 instead of the true amount of $111 48, and not then being aware, as I presume, of the refunding of the same, gave publicity to the error. Knowledge of the matter has but recently come to me, though I am informed that it has been in circulation for some years, and that the late Governor, ignorant of the discovery of the error and the return of the money, repeated it, candidly stating, however, that it was evidently an unintentional mistake, and one anybody was liable to have made, else I should not publish this statement.

In 1855 I printed 1,000 copies of Oregon statutes, a volume of 600 or 700 pages. Five hundred copies were lost by the wrecking of the steamship Southerner on our northern coast. I caused an additional 500 copies to be printed and delivered to the Secretary. The bill for these last was presented to the U. S. treasury department, and the principal auditing office recognized it as just, but thought he was not authorized to allow the same without an act of Congress, the passage of which he recommended. And if I mistake not he wrote the act, which some eight years thereafter was passed, and by virtue of which I was paid $2,500 in greenbacks. I never claimed or received a dollar for the books lost at sea.

A. BUSH.

Railroads.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

My attention has just been called to an article in the Salem Chronicle of the 18th inst., commenting upon the Record, from which I quote the following.

"From the report of the Railroad Committee in Portland, it is evident that the capitalists and business men down there regard the Salem company, (O. C. No. 2.) as an unmitigated humbug."

As the Chairman of the Committee who made that report, I must say that I think the inferences drawn by the Chronicle are unauthorized by anything to be found in the report. I know not what remarks the Record may have made giving rise to the discussion, I therefore neither approve nor disapprove them. However, I scarcely think it just or in good taste for the Chronicle or any other paper to make the report a pack horse for its attacks upon individuals or companies, while though requested by resolution, it has utterly failed to lay the report or any part of it before its readers. Neither the Chronicle, Unionist, Enterprise, Record, Democrat, or any other paper in Oregon, save the OREGONIAN and Herald, so far as I have learned, have published the report.

It may not suit the programme of politicians and others controlling the newspapers of the day to commit themselves for or against the enterprises it advocates; but let me assure them that the people are in lively earnest upon this subject, and I apprehend no man will be elected to a seat in the State Legislature or Congress whose views on the subject shall not be fully known to the people.

I ought to have said that there were those on the Committee who were the warm friends of the Forine enterprise, and there were those who lack faith in it. The subject was fully discussed and the report satisfactory to all.

W. W. CHAPMAN.

January 28, 1868.

PERILS OF AN EGOTIST.—The Unionist has the following:

When crossing the Willamette at Portland, recently, the editor of the Herald had his skiff caught in the drifting ice, and for several hours was in imminent danger, but was rescued by citizens. From the fact that the local reporter of the Herald made no mention of the adventures of his chief, it is inferred that no great value is set on the latter, who has the bad taste to publicly reprove the reporter through the editorial column! How very like Beriah!

GOING! GOING! GONE!—Such were the words that the graceful and admiring skaters uttered as they saw the ice gradually spoil and made unfit for their sport. While the ice is going KOHN & FISHEL still remain, and are already preparing to receive a large invoice of Fine and Fashionable Clothing for the Spring trade, and shall hereafter, as heretofore, be the leaders of fashion, have the best [illegible], and sell them at the lowest price.

Buchtel's Photograph Gallery is the only establishment in Oregon that is thoroughly prepared to do all the different styles of work in the art. Photographs from card to life size. The new cabinet cards, &c., &c. Small pictures enlarged (retouched in India ink—painted in water-colors or oil by Mrs. S. J. Rumsey. Pictures that are fading can be reproduced in this way. All negatives taken in this gallery will be carefully preserved, and additional copies had. I have now on hand a very large collection of negatives, the names of which are recorded alphabetically in a book for that purpose that can be seen in the reception room.

STEALING AN EDITOR'S TURKEY.—Just before Christmas the editor of the Alameda County Gazette was presented with a live fat turkey, which some graceless candidate for the gallows stole. The editor gently intimates his disgust and anger thereat, as follows: It is "teching:" "Some vile, mean, worthless, despicable, depraved, contemptible, sneaking, thieving villain, stole our Christmas turkey one night last week. We prized that turkey. 'Twas a present to us—that is to say, a subscriber, who owes us for eight years' subscription, sent it to us to be credited to his account. What pleasure we anticipated in dissecting the fowl's beautiful carcass. How fondly we gazed on him, as he strutted about the yard unmindful of his approaching end, and thought of the "good time coming." Alas for the mutability of mundane calculations! That majestic form was destined to "tickle the palate" of some ignoble ingrate. We wish that every kernel of that "tuck" was a red hot iron dart piercing the wretch's hard, unfeeling heart, and that its flesh would turn to stone within the villain and cause a compound attack of nightmare; and that his couch—if the thief has one—might be beset with hobgoblins; that in his troubled vision he might see our turkey (that was) transformed into a half-starved condor, hovering over him with fierce and gleaming eyes, contemplating the feast before him. And then we wish the aforesaid condor would make a dart for the miserable cuss, and—we wouldn't care a 'continental' whether the fellow awoke or not. Steal an editor's turkey, will you?"

THE LAST OF HIS RACE.—Happening to be down near Couch's Lake yesterday afternoon, we found that the skating season had not quite closed. The ice was soft and mostly covered with water; but notwithstanding these little drawbacks, a dilapidated individual who looked as lone and lorn as an orphaned loon on a lake, with his hands (the man's, we mean) thrust into his pockets and whistling a melancholy sort of refrain which sounded amazingly like the wind executing a dirge through a key hole, was keeping up the sport.

'Twas the last skater of the season,
All his jolly companions
Had scooted and gone;
No skater, girl or feller,
No boy, e'en was nigh,
To witness his forlornity
Or pity when he'd sigh.

And then he went it; and ever and anon, as he would sit suddenly and heavily down in the moisture, we could not help sympathizing pityingly, on the exquisite beauty of the spectacle. We left him thus, still skating, still whistling, still forlorn, still alone.

OPENING NAVIGATION.—In accordance with instructions from headquarters, Capt. Baughman, of the Alert, got his steamer out yesterday, for the purpose of testing the practicability of breaking a channel through the ice, between Oregon City and this place. Beginning at Milwaukie, where the Alert has been laid up, he worked his way to a point a short distance above Oswego, when, encountering ice too strong for the boat to open, he returned and began breaking a channel toward Portland. He found not much difficulty for the first two or three miles, as the ice was neither thick or very strong. The manner of operating was to run the bow of the boat at slow speed into the field of ice before him, splitting it open, sometimes for a considerable distance ahead. The action of the waves did the rest, lifting and breaking the ice into fragments. These were pushed aside by the boat as she advanced, being forced upon or under the solid ice on each side. The Alert thus forced a way to within about two miles of the city, when finding stronger ice, she withdrew. It is intended to renew the trial to-day, and we think it expected as to the certainty of opening communication between this city and Oregon City, either to-day or to-morrow.

A NEW SOCIETY ORGANIZED.—An acquaintance at the Mush Mod, of whom we inquired yesterday, "what's the news," replied, "There is no news in this part of the city, only that a society, called the Hungry Brothers has been organized here since the freeze up." We could obtain no information as to the character of the organization, its objects, of whom composed, or anything of that sort; but we have no doubt that the "Hungry Brothers" is an actual, ordained institution, for we had not proceeded more than a block or two till we met one of the veritable "Brothers." He was seedy and looked as though he was hungry and very tired. Advancing with an unsteady gait (attributable to his starved condition) the "Brother" spoke in a weak and plaintive voice: "Say, Mister, (hic) for Gosseke, gif feller 'alf dollar t'buy feller (hic) suth's t'eat—hain't eat bite'n two days." Though the fellow was a "Brother," and though his appeal was a feeling and a "techin" one, we concluded that, as we had worked for the lone half dollar then and there in our pocket, he might go and work for another, and told him so. The "Hungry Brother" reeled along with a huge disgust on.

THE PATTER OF THE RAIN.—The patter of the rain on the roof awoke the brain portion of our people yesterday morning to a happier day than they had seen for two weeks. It spoke to them of the end of the reign of the Ice King; of the unlocking of the gates of the ice-bound emporium; of the resurrection of business, and the resumption of bustle, buzz and book-accounts. The sound was as charming as any tongue of syren. Smiles beamed upon every face and cheerful greetings went round as never before upon a rainy day, since the "oldest inhabitant" was a puling infant. The business world pulled up its shirt collar and gave its trowsers a hitch preparatory to entering upon a vigorous and profitable day's work. Never was there such a rejuvenation of affairs on the prospects afforded by so small a patter. It took the whole day, indeed, to wear off the wire edge given to everything by the first spattering drops of mist and to convince the people that the normal condition of things was not already restored. Rain, for once in Webfoot, had such a welcome as we might suppose would be given to the man who should come with his pockets full of the millennium.

BLUNDERS OF THE TELEGRAPH.—The errors made by inattentive or unqualified telegraph operators, are sometimes rather serious in their consequences, but oftener amusing. Mr. Corbett, the agent of the Stage Co., relates an instance of the latter sort: When at Marysville, California, he found the road stocked a little short, for the then bad roads, high water, etc., and telegraphed to Mr. Thatcher at Salem, "Send me the Scoville team or four odd horses." In due time, four horses arrived, but not the serviceable ones wanted. When Mr. Corbett arrived at Salem, he overhauled Mr. Thatcher for sending such a team, when the latter produced the telegram to prove that he had obeyed instructions. To his astonishment and infinite amusement, Mr. Corbett read, "Send me the sorrel team or four old horses." In accordance with this telegram Mr. T. had gathered up four old, sorrel horses and sent them forward.

ARRESTED—AN UNFORTUNATE AFFAIR.—Early Monday morning, an unfortunate altercation occurred at the What Cheer House, between Mr. Lyon, one of the proprietors, and a man named Thomas Heffernan, resulting in severe injuries to the latter. As Mr. Lyon has been arrested on a charge of "assault with a dangerous weapon" and will have an examination this morning before the Recorder, we refrain from publishing any of the particulars, as detailed by the several parties. It is one of those cases which has two sides to it, each of the parties being confident that he can show the other to have been in the wrong. The examination to-day will doubtless put the affair before the public in a proper shape. Upon his arrest Mr. Lyon promptly gave bail in the sum of $500, for his appearance this morning. Messrs. Hill, Page and Stevens are to appear for the prosecution.

THE ROAD SOUTH.—Mr. E. Corbett, who reached this city after a prolonged absence on the stage road between here and Lincoln, California, reports the road in most places in heavy condition. The late floods in California carried away several bridges and the road itself is in many places badly guttered and torn up. The road over Trinity and Scott mountains was good for sleighs, though the snow was very deep. Of late the mails and passengers have been carried most of the way between Albany and Trinity mountain in sleighs, the drivers being compelled in some instances to stop by the wayside to build sleighs with which to proceed. According to his account, whoever goes overland now will have as rough a time on the stage route as was ever experienced on that famous "hard road to travel"—over Jordan.

ADVANCE IN PACKED MEATS.—The late storms and floods in California are said to have been quite disastrous to cattle and sheep in many localities, many thousands, in the aggregate, having perished. The Sacramento Union's review of the San Francisco markets says that, in consequence of this, packed meats must advance. At the last sale at Haywards, steers sold at an increased price, and hogs brought 6 cents per pound—an advance of 50 per cent on the prices ruling for several weeks past. This will be good news to the wholesale packers in this State, for the San Francisco market.

FROM OREGON CITY.—The following telegram from Oregon City was received last evening: Steamer Enterprise arrived this P. M. at the foot of Rock Island. The river being closed by ice between Canemah and the Island, she was prevented from coming to her wharf. A channel is being cut through the ice in the basin to enable the steamer Fannie Patton to get out and resume her regular trips......Hon J. N. Dolph will deliver a lecture here to-night. He came here on foot from Portland.

FOR THE OPENING OF A STREET.—A petition was circulating yesterday and receiving numerous signatures, praying the Council to provide for the opening of Eighth street, through the triangular form between Stark and A streets, known as Raleigh's block. The only wonder about it is that such a measure as the one prayed for, was not long since adopted.

LINE DOWN.—The telegraph line was down yesterday, below Red Bluff. The operators this side of that place report that a heavy storm was prevailing.

THE MOUNTAIN ROAD.—Several items having appeared in the papers of this city concerning the condition of the new road leading westward out of this city, toward the Tualatin Plains, and directly or indirectly imputing negligence to the Supervisor, he—Mr James Allen—explains in a card, that, "the way slides fell into the road in such abundance that it was impossible to clear them out without rebuilding the a ready exorbitant tax, which we think but few of the tax payers would be willing to stand After due consultation with the County Judge in reference to the matter, and by his advice, it was deemed most expedient to open the old road. He expects to open the new road, so that there shall be no detriment to travel there, early next spring."

WILLAMETTE THEATER.—Joe Delevan has issued bills for a performance this evening at the Willamette Theater. The programme announces the second presentation of W. W. Pratt's sensational drama, in five acts, entitled "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," an interlude, consisting of dances, songs, &c; the performance to conclude with the excessively laughable farce of "Toodles." Several new names are announced among the corps of actors. Admission to all parts of the house, fifty cents.

"EXCEEDINGLY EFFECTIVE — BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES are excellent lozenges for the relief of Hoarseness or Sore Throat. They are certainly exceedingly effective. We have known several instances in which troublesome coughs have ceased very speedily after one or two Troches were taken."—Christian World, London, Eng.

SHATTERED CONSTITUTIONS RESTORED by HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU gives health and vigor to the frame and bloom to the pallid cheek. Debility is accompanied by many alarming symptoms, and if no treatment is submitted to, consumption, insanity, or epileptic fits ensue.

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS should be in the possession of everybody in the mining region. As a preventive of various dangerous diseases to which the gold seeker is liable, it has no superior. While it is quite palatable even as a beverage, it is speedy and powerful in its effects upon the system. In all cases of diarrhea, dysentery and the prevailing fevers consequent upon exposure, the Bitters will be found invaluable as a corrective. No man should enter upon the exposed camp life of a miner without being provided with Hostetter's preventive of stomach disease, nor should any of those who are now engaged in the occupation, fail to have recourse to the Bitters.—Sold by all druggists and dealers everywhere.

DR. C. W. COOL,

DENTIST.

THOSE WHO DESIRE FIRST-CLASS DENTAL SERVICES might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE. The nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold. It makes the plate twice as strong and one third times thinner than the common vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. His new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the concave or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has received, December 3d, 1867, a patent from the United States Patent Office. He has been making this style of work for the last two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his office. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

At this period there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in these far off places by its merits.

TAKE NO MORE UNPLEASANT AND UNSAFE REMEDIES for unpleasant and dangerous diseases. Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH.

The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior products for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!

A Pure and Powerful Tonic,

Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water; Invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels;

Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant; but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of Weak Habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Langour, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

Dickens.

[illegible] FIRST READING IN NEW YORK.

[From the New York Tribune, Dec. 10]

In the readings that Mr. Dickens gave last night the character of that genius was fully and admirably illustrated. The key note of all his writings is sounded in the "Christmas Carol" and the "Pickwick Papers." Humanity and humor blend in that note, and make an excellent music. Other of his works, it is true, express more amply and in more minute and elaborate detail, the scope of the writer's mind, the vigor and wealth of his imagination, the wonderful thoroughness of his analysis of nature, the keenness of his intuitions, the depth of his pathos, the remarkable perception that he has of the sombre and tragical aspects of human experience, and the rich resources of his eloquent style. There are single passages in "David Copperfield," in "Martin Chuzzlewit," in "The Old Curiosity Shop," and in that strong and splendid tragic creation, "A Tale of Two Cities," to which the critic will naturally [illegible] recur, in forming a true estimate of this extraordinary man. There is no written storm like the storm in which Steerforth goes down to death. There is no horror more ghastly than the face of Jonas Chuzzlewit in the wood. There is no pathos more heart-breaking than that which enwraps the aged mourner at Nelly's grave. There is no emblem of self-sacrifice more vivid or more sublime than the figure of Sydney Carton at the guillotine. The assured power of maturity is palpable in all these scenes and pictures. They express a deep heart that has suffered deeply, and a great mind in uncurbed action. Yet, to the acute thinker, the characteristic quality of that heart and mind are evident enough in the "Christmas Carol" and the "Pickwick Papers." Not humanity and humor alone; but delicate inventive skill the fine talent of the [illegible] airy and delightful fancy, a true comprehension of character and of social relations, a thorough acquaintance and sympathy with common joys and common sorrows, and, above all, the [illegible] noble purpose to inculcate the religion of love. The geniality of the Christmas [illegible] has never been so entirely uttered as it is in this little work. The great fires roar in its pages and bright eyes sparkle, and [illegible] bells ring, and sunlight and starlight and joy wrap it round [illegible] in a delicious atmosphere of honest, ardent goodness. There is at least one touch of pathos in it which no heart [illegible]. It is when poor Bob Cratchit [illegible] of Tiny Tim's grave. You may read it a [illegible] times, but you can never read it without [illegible]. "It would have done you good to see how green a place it is," Bob says; "but you'll see it often. I promised him that I [illegible] Sunday. My little, little child! my little child!" There is another touch [illegible] which expresses the [illegible], the concentrated spirit of all [illegible]. "Ages of incessant labor by [illegible] creatures for this earth must pass into [illegible] before the good of which it is [illegible]. Any Christian spirit working kindly in its sphere, whatever it may be, will find its mortal life too short for its vast [illegible]." The author who teaches thus [illegible] is not much in vain. It is another merit [illegible], too, that there is nothing in the [illegible] so irresistibly contagious as laughter and [illegible], and that he has proved by the [illegible] of "Pickwick." With both these doctrines [illegible] sympathy last night. Not [illegible] but the [illegible] voice [illegible] an echo in every heart.

Mr. [illegible] an ex[illegible] reader. To read his works is to [illegible] in an eminent degree the [illegible]. To hear him read is to see that he possesses, in almost equal fullness, the [illegible]. [illegible] for the time, is extinct. Now he is [illegible] Mr. [illegible], anon is he Bob [illegible], through the guises [illegible] Little Judge, Mrs. [illegible] the [illegible] spectre, and Samuel Weller. The [illegible] are complete. This capacity of [illegible] is, of course, the indis[illegible] for [illegible]. To say that Mr. [illegible] is [illegible] to explain the [illegible] that he has achieved in reading his own works. It is [illegible] to add, however, [illegible]. The chief [illegible] which implies a per[illegible] is to be produced and a [illegible] of the [illegible] that are [illegible] to [illegible]. In the [illegible] and [illegible], in thirty [illegible] manner, [illegible] the [illegible] in all that the man is and all that he [illegible] this little volume [illegible] is one [illegible] both [illegible] last night he [illegible] more [illegible] of this [illegible] the "Tempest" chapter [illegible] will probably [illegible] he will be [illegible].

[illegible] very well-informed [illegible] by the Govern[illegible] [illegible] war house system. On this subject the Chicago Tribune [illegible]

[illegible], with its classified ware[illegible] let no [illegible] the still [illegible] until the [illegible] at any [illegible] of whisky [illegible] does not pay [illegible] to the Government. We [illegible] that the whisky [illegible] the United States [illegible] its [illegible] of two dollars a gallon by the [illegible] to one dollar to [illegible]. There are so [illegible] the tax is not less than [illegible] it will make the tax one [illegible] per gallon, payable in all [illegible] at the still [illegible] will find it [illegible] pay that sum to the Govern[illegible]. If the Government [illegible] with a tax of two dollars per [illegible] can only collect [illegible] 70,000,000 gallons per year, [illegible] $70,000,000 from the same quantity [illegible] one dollar per gallon, [illegible] demand that the rate of taxation be reduced, and reduced [illegible].

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IN BRINGING THE ABOVE-NAMED NEW REMEDY to the notice of the Public, the Proprietor begs to state a few facts in relation to it, as follows:

It originated in Prussia, where the science of Medicine is so thoroughly taught and practiced, but owing to the poverty of its discoverer its wonderful properties were not known beyond the limited circle of his acquaintance, in which, however, it proved itself absolutely [illegible] in eradicating [illegible] from the eyes.

He immigrated to this country, bringing his discovery with him, but seems to have been indifferent to the propriety of giving it general and wide-spread circulation, and, as previously in his native country, [illegible] only desirous of using it among his friends and neighbors.

The present proprietor was one of those neighbors, and for many years was a witness to its wonderful efficacy, and, after ineffectual efforts to persuade the inventor to more widely [illegible] the knowledge of its virtues, finally became himself the proprietor of the secret of its preparation.

And now, while he does not deny that he hopes and expects to make money by its sale, he must yet lay claim to a desire to benefit his fellows by presenting to them a remedy which does and will cure what medical science and all experience have failed.

He does not claim it to be understood that it will cure all diseases of the eye, whether of recent or long standing; but its greatest power is exhibited when it is applied to old Chronic Cases of long standing, which have resisted every other attempt to cure them, and which have been given up as hopeless and past being cured or relieved.

He asks those afflicted in this way to give it a trial, and so confident is he of its success that he instructs all his agents TO REFUND THE MONEY IF IT FAILS TO CURE.

It has, within the past year, cured cases of GRANULATED LIDS, INFLAMMATION, &c., of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and SEVENTEEN YEARS STANDING, evidence of which fact is furnished in the testimony of the following persons, living at and in the neighborhood of Harrisburg, Linn county:

ALEXANDER L. WALKER was cured of inflamed eyes, of nine years standing. Had been treated by eminent physicians during all that time without relief.

Mrs. MONTGOMERY, of Harrisburg, had inflamed eyes for over two years. For one year they were so bad that she could not work. Was finally completely cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

E. B. MOORE, of the firm of Moore, Garst & Baber, of Harrisburg, had granulated lids for six years.

NATHANIEL BELL, of Clackamas county, had inflamed eyes—a bad case—for over fifteen years.

ROBERT RAMPEY and W. D. PORTER, of Harrisburg; JOHN M. HOLLOWAY, of Linn County; G. R. WARD, of Lane County, were all afflicted, more or less severely, with [illegible] eyes, and were cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

All the above named persons have given lengthy testimonials to the facts as above stated, which may be seen at the proprietor's office in Harrisburg.

PROSPECTUS

THE OLYMPIA TRANSCRIPT!

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, HAVING PURchased the "UNION BOOK & JOB PRINTING OFFICE," of T. F. McElroy, propose to issue a Weekly Newspaper at Olympia, W. T., on or about the 1st of December next, to be called THE OLYMPIA TRANSCRIPT.

The paper will be devoted to the Agricultural, Mechanical, Commercial, Mineral, Moral and Political interests of the whole Territory.

In Politics we shall uphold and sustain the Union Principles of the Nation, at the same time reserving the right to be INDEPENDENT on all subjects, that we may be better able to discuss all matters in their true light, and give credit wherever it is due.

We trust our friends will circulate this prospectus generally, and assist us in getting a good list of Subscribers, Advertisements, or Job Work. We also invite correspondence from all sections of the Territory.

THE OLYMPIA TRANSCRIPT will be issued every Saturday, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Hoping to receive a share of public favor, we unfurl our banner to the breeze.

CARD.

DR. BARLOW J. SMITH'S WATER CURE AND Phrenological Institute, 627 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. This is the only Regular Water Cure in Francisco, where all curable diseases are treated without drugs. Dr. Smith was the first to establish a water cure on this coast, based upon the theory and practice of the New York Hydropathic College.

We have a truly healthful boarding place for men, women and children, and our prices are moderate.

The Phrenological organs plainly indicate the diseases to which any person, male or female, is predisposed.

Put this card in your hat, and when you come to San Francisco, call on Dr. Smith. He will give you consultation and a phrenological examination in regard to health. It will cost you nothing and may save you months and years of ill health and "bad luck."

Dr. Smith gives free lectures to gentlemen every Friday evening, on subjects pertaining to health, at his Phrenological Hall, 627 Sacramento Street.

Let parents, [illegible], friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies, and that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has [illegible] this disease his [illegible] study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all [illegible] in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of [illegible] physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Weakness, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an [illegible] extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, [illegible], night sweats, [illegible] and frequently [illegible]. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering [illegible] any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

TO THE LADIES.

The various complicated and distressing diseases incident to females, treated with eminent success. Such as Suppressions, Irregularities, Whites, Falling of the Womb, Tumors, all Urinary Diseases, Nervous Debility, Painful or Difficult Menstruation, Barrenness, etc., will be speedily cured, without poisonous drugs, injurious or unpalatable medicines of any kind. Have no delicacy in calling, no difference what your troubles may be. The afflicted are cordially invited to call and satisfy themselves.

Persons calling at Dr. Gibbon's office or sending for packages of medicines, may rely upon his assurances of confidential secrecy with implicit faith, and expect no more than to be charged with, a fair, and mutually satisfactory remuneration for services rendered, considering the circumstances and difficulties of cases, rather than a too prevalent and selfish practice of extortion among quacks and pretenders.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in [illegible] letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 282.

REDINGTON & CO'S
ESSENCE OF
JAMAICA GINGER

This valuable preparation, containing, in a highly concentrated form, all the properties of the Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies for all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.

As a tonic, it will be found invaluable to all persons recovering from debility, whether produced by fever or otherwise, for, while it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by wine or brandy, it is entirely free from the reactionary effects that follow the use of spirits of any kind.

It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany that period.

It gives immediate relief to Nausea, caused by riding in a railroad car, or by sea-sickness, or other causes. It is also valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc.
